In January, our daughter Colleen called to tell us she and Mike were married that morning! For several weeks, they had been discussing how they could marry and avoid planning a wedding ceremony.

After I caught my breath, I thought of Boonzaaijer's Cakes & Pastries, our neighborhood Dutch bakery that designs beautiful wedding cakes. We walked to the shop and told the staff our wonderful news. Lauren helped us choose a small cake to take to a family dinner already on the calendar. This time we surprised Mike and Colleen!

Boonzaaijer's Cakes & Pastries

Steve Boonzaaijer is no stranger to baking. His father, a pastry chef, owned a Dutch bakery in Kalamazoo, Michigan for 35 years. Located on the corner of Centennial Boulevard and Pinnon Valley Road, Steve opened Boonzaaijer's Cakes & Pastries in our Colorado Springs neighborhood in 1999. He added a coffee and tea bar in 2004. All his culinary delights are baked on site with fresh ingredients.

The photo shows unique cakes designed by award winning decorator Chef Robert. His next project is to create a castle wedding cake for 200 guests. His challenge is to build a castle that happens to be a cake rather than decorate a cake to look like a castle. This will take him about 30 hours!

Pies are another specialty. On November 20th at 11:00 pm, the staff will gather to bake pecan, pumpkin, and apple pies for pick up on the day before Thanksgiving. Last year they made 300 pies!

Help with the holidays

A neighborhood bakery is very helpful with the approaching holidays. Serving a tasty continental breakfast to overnight guests begins their day with a smile. Save energy and time by ordering a fancy dessert and breads for your holiday dinner. And what child doesn't smile at a gingerbread house?

Throughout the season visit your local bakery for some holiday R&R. Browse your magazines for food and decoration ideas or finish a gift project. You can discuss your ideas for customized gift baskets or logo cookies for business gifts with the helpful staff.
